

Signup Sheet for Trappers Ed Classes

Please put me on your list to be notified when a Trapper's Ed class will be offered in my area. I am interested in learning to trap and would like to learn how to trap in a safe, ethical manner and would also like to learn enough about trapping so I can be successful at it.

Those taking the Trappers Ed Course will spend an entire day (or parts of two days) learning about the history of trapping in Michigan, why we need trapping, how to get started trapping without making costly mistakes, how to be safe out on the trap-line, how, when, and where to begin setting traps and how to properly prepare your catch for market. (Plus many other things that are important to learn before beginning to trap.)

There will be a small charge for the class but students will receive free trapping equipment, an excellent handbook on trapping, and other valuable handouts. And, best of all, students will be receiving top-notch instruction from real trappers, many of whom have been trapping for many years.

Classes are taught by state-certified instructors and will eventually be available throughout the entire Upper Peninsula, as more certified instructors receive training. The classes are open to both youngsters and adults.
